"Management: Stakeholder Engagement & Science"

Find out about career paths of marine & climate scientists!
What is their current job like?
How did they get it?
Which skills do they need?

for young researchers enrolled in PhD programmes and postdocs at the marine institutes in Bremen, Bremerhaven and Oldenburg with:

Vivien Kudelka

Vivien Kudelka Fisheries and Stakeholder Engagement Manager | Deutschland, Österreich, Schweiz, Marine Stewardship Council (MSC): Vivien has been working at the MSC in Berlin for over ten years to promote sustainable fishing. After studying marine and fisheries biology, she now engages in dialogue with environmental organizations, scientists and authorities. In her talk, she explains how she found her way into international stakeholder work - and how the protection of the oceans is always at the center of her work.

Dr. Oliver Jäckle-Tietjen

After completing his PhD in Marine Microbiology in 2018, Oliver has been working as a Research Officer at the collaborative research Centre for Structural Systems Biology CSSB in Hamburg since 2020. In this role, he supports the center's development through science management and gains valuable insights into the scientific infrastructure behind the scenes.

Date & time: June 20, 2025 at 14:00 - 15:30

Format: online meeting via Zoom or Webex

Language: English

Participants: maximum of 50

Target group: Early career scientists who are interested in broadening their horizon and getting new ideas for their own future career development.

Registration: cgloeckn@mpi-bremen.de

The seminar format Career Insights Online aims at introducing different job perspectives for marine and climate scientists in the widest sense and offers the possibility to get in touch with former members of the Marine Graduate Schools in Oldenburg, Bremen and Bremerhaven. It focusses on career paths outside of academia and will give insights into job fields in, e. g. industry, (public) administration, consulting, and journalism. Speakers are asked to talk about their current position, the interdisciplinary skills they achieved during their doctorate, the career steps they took, as well as about work-family-life-balance. After their presentation, participants will have the opportunity to ask questions to the speakers.
