Oldenburg - A lively university town in Germany's Northwest

Oldenburg looks back on more than 900 years of history and is now, with its 176,000 inhabitants, a centre of cultural, scientific and economic life in North-West Germany.

Oldenburg is a great place to live. Its lively mix of entertainment and culture – bars, restaurants and trendy venues as well as theatres and a number of museums – create a big-city feeling. Yet it is a safe place where you can get around easily on your bicycle, as most students do. It is also a garden city, with streets lined with trees and many parks. Oldenburg also has a well-developed bus system, and is connected to the European rail network. Students enjoy free public transport for the entire semester throughout Lower Saxony, including even Groningen in the Netherlands.

Our university – Open to new approaches

Our university has an enrolment of around 15,000 students. Founded in 1973, we are a young and modern institution, always striving to take on new challenges.

Courses taught in English

All of our schools offer certain courses in English, for example in the study areas of Economics, Engineering Physics, Marine Sciences, Migration and Intercultural Relations, Psychology, and Sustainability. Furthermore, several degree courses are entirely taught in English.

Courses taught in German

Exchange students can choose from nearly the entire list of courses on offer.

European Studies

Our semester programme European Studies in Global Perspectives is taught in English. Students can choose between two topics: "Society, Economy, and Politics" and "Languages, Cultures, and Education."

Learning German

German language courses during the semester are offered at almost all levels, comprise 6 hours of language instruction per week and cover half of a level. During the semester break in September and March, we offer intensive German language courses on different levels.
